Challenges

The company had found it very difficult to get drawings produced because of the complex equipment location and design. Welded systems were not a suitable choice due to the many obstructions caused by the pipework network.

Solution

Custom made KOMBI platforms were installed throughout the plant. With KOMBI's ability to be infinitely adjusted to suit each individual area's requirements a precise fit was easily achieved with minimum fuss. Due to the modular design, platform supports could be extended passed the obstructions below to ensure stability and integrity of the platforms was maintained.
